Course Marketing

4exMilitary Jobs Ltd is a leader in ex - military recruitment and our popularity enables us to provide a great marketing platform for education and training providers aiming to attract Armed Forces leavers.

As an ex-military recruitment and internet job board business, not only do we attract to the website those personnel currently leaving the Armed Forces we have a huge membership of over 35,000 ex-military personnel, which grows at a substantial rate each year.

We are therefore an excellent advertising medium for education and training providers to advertise their courses on and in general to raise their presence within the ex – military arena by having a banner presence on the website.

Our advertising fees are extremely competitive allowing you to advertise up to 10 courses for as little as £400 + vat per year. We find this to be much more cost effective approach than spending a “small fortune” on magazines and trade journals which although may hit a larger audience don’t quite target those searching for training courses. To have your logo banner on the Courses Home page of our website with a click through link to your website the cost is £500 + Vat for the year.
